Highlights

High flying

All heads were turned skyward April 16 when the kite flying demonstration came to Head Lake park in Haliburton village. This was an enjoyable event for young and old alike. Please see pages 6 and 7.

Misfits

The Minden MNR Misfits did what they all thought couldn't be done. They won a game. In fact they won six games... enough to win the provincial MNR tournament. Please see page 26.

Scientists

At what could be the precursor to a county science fair, the students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden and J. D. Hodgson in Haliburton held their first science fairs last week. The students displayed ingenuity and imagination with their entries. Please see page 25.

Adding a dash of glitter to last Friday's Spring Fashion Show at the Pinestone Inn was the Highlands' own performing dance company Art Alive. The dancers, who have been practicing together for about six months, provided dance numbers at the opening and closing of the fashion show. The show itself was put on by The Village Shoppe and Country Pickin's and featured an appealing variety of spring fashions. The Grand Ballroom was filled to capacity for the show, which was a fundraiser for the Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded.

Black calls for all-out support

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The key to solving Ontario's increasing drug problem is complete community involvement, according to the MPP responsible for studying illegal drug use in the province.

Ken Black, the MPP for Muskoka-Georgian Bay, was asked by Premier David Peterson to be a one-man task force into the use of narcotics in Ontario and last Monday he related some of his findings at a public meeting held in Lindsay.

Peterson asked Black to undertake the study in the wake of the death of Benji Hayward last August. Hayward's body was found floating in Lake Ontario after he disappeared following a rock concert at Toronto's CNE stadium. It was later discovered that 14-year-old Benji had taken LSD, a hallucinogenic drug, at the concert.

Black is now touring the province discussing his findings with various communities. His presentation at Lindsay's LCVI high school was sponsored by the Lindsay Rotary Club.

Black told the meeting, attended by representatives of many area social and law enforcement agencies, that during the course of his research he realized the drug problem in Ontario is much more serious than he had suspected.

One out of every four high school students will use illegal drugs at least once in the next year, according to Black. In college and university the figure rises to 35 per cent and among Metro Toronto's population of street kids 75 per cent use drugs. "That in itself would be a major problem," said Black. "But there's more."

He said that last year $4 billion was spent on the purchase of illegal drugs and that the money ended up in the hands of organized crime. Another $9 billion dollars of taxpayers' money was spent to cover the direct and indirect costs of the problem. The money went to hire additional law enforcement personnel, cover the extra costs to health care, fund drug treatment and prevention programs and pay for lost time and productivity in the work place.

"That's $9 billion of your money that could have been spent on things like hospitals, schools and roads," Black told the crowd.

The availability of cocaine and its highly addictive derivative 'crack' is on the increase in Ontario, said Black, and the province had become a major transit route for traffickers to smuggle narcotics into the north-east United States.

According to Black the recent crack-down on the drug trade by the American authorities has made bringing narcotics into the United States more difficult and the thousands of miles of undefended border

Eakins responds to recent complaints

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Municipalities complaining about the Ontario government's freeze on increases in unconditional grants are not taking into account the millions of dollars spent by the province in other programs, according to the Minister of Municipal Affairs.

"They aren't giving credit to the various ministries pouring money into municipalities," Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins told The Times in a telephone interview last Wednesday.

Eakins said the province has been under public pressure to increase funding to schools and hospitals and has also been told by the Ontario Chamber of Commerce to take action to cut the deficit. "The treasurer is in a difficult position," said Eakins. "There is only so much money to go around."

By flat-lining the unconditional grants to municipalities, Eakins said the government will be able to make health and education priorities in the budget. But he also said the freeze on increases does not mean the province is turning its back on the municipalities spending needs.

Provincial transfer payments to municipalities come in two forms, unconditional grants and conditional grants. Unconditional grants provide the municipalities with money they can use for whatever purpose they see fit. Conditional grants come with strings attached that require municipalities to spend the money on specific programs and may require some local funding as well.

Council takes new pay hike

Minden council members have given themselves pay raises ranging from 10 per cent for the Reeve to 12.8 per cent for the councillors. The Deputy-Reeve recieved an 11.5 per cent pay hike.

The raises bring the amount paid to the Reeve to $5,455 plus $2,273 for expenses, the amount paid to the Deputy-Reeve to $4,860 plus $2,273 for expenses and the amount paid to councillors to $4,400 plus $2,033 for expenses.

The expense payments go towards paying for transportation and accommodations when members of council attend conferences or conventions.

The total annual ammount paid to all five councillors for salary and expenses is now $34,455.

Board hires three new elementary principals

There will be three new principals and two new vice principals at Haliburton County schools this September. The school board recently completed the hiring process for these elementary school positions.

Two of the positions have been filled by teachers who are already employed at Haliburton Schools. The other three jobs are being filled by people from the Toronto area.

Audrey Chambers will be the new principal at Gooderham Elementary School. She is presently teaching Grade 3 at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton village. Chambers has taught for more than 20 years at the primary, junior and intermediate levels and served as librarian for several years. She holds a Master's Degree in Library Science, has completed Parts I and II of the principal's course and has qualifications in special education.

Chambers is the mother of three children and has lived in Haliburton County for most of her life.

J.D. HODGSON

David McKinlay, a popular teacher at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden, will be the new vice principal at J. Douglas Hodgson Elementary School. He is presently teaching physical education, health and guidance and has taught for more than 20 years in the junior and intermediate divisions.

McKinlay holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree, Specialist's qualifications in Physical and Health Education and has completed Parts I and II of the principal's course.

WILBERFORCE

The new principal at Wilberforce Elementary School will be Edward Glendinning, who is presently working for the Scarborough Board of Education as a teacher at the junior level. He has taught for 19 years in the primary, junior and intermediate divisions with considerable time spent in special education. He and his family are looking forward to moving to the county.

The new Wilberforce principal holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree, has completed Parts I and II of the principal's course and has qualifications in Special Education, Physical Education, Health Education, Guidance and Outdoor Education.

VICTORIA STREET

Michael Burk, who is presently the curriculum chairperson for the Scarborough Board of Education, will be the new principal at Victoria Street School. He has taught for nearly 20 years at the primary, junior and intermediate levels. He holds a Master's Degree, has completed Parts I and II of the principal's course and has qualifications in Special Education and Guidance.

Burk is married and has three children. He and his wife, Pat, have enjoyed cottage life in the Basshaunt Lake area for the past 10 years and are looking forward to settling in Haliburton County.

ARCHIE STOUFFER

Judy Tomlinson-Ross will be the new vice principal at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden. She will be moving here from the Dufferin-Peel Separate School Board where she is presently teaching. She and her husband, Ernie, are looking forward to relocating to the Highlands.

Tomlinson-Ross will be replacing Gareth Kellett as the school's vice principal. Kellett is retiring at the end of the school year.

No burning?

In spite of the signs posted at the entranceways to area landfill sites, fires continue to be lit, forcing municipalities to have gates installed and restrict access. This picture was taken last Saturday at the Snowdon Township dump on County Road One, just days after township council announced it would be fencing and manning the dumps because of these recurring fires. Municipal councils in Lutterworth, Stanhope and Dysart Townships are all facing the same problems and are making plans to fence off the landfill sites.

Education at its best

It seems that just about every week of the year has been claimed by one special interest group or another as their special week for recognition or celebration. Not so long ago it was Local Government Week, and now it's Education Week. There was a week in between and we'd bet our last dollar that some special interest group has laid claim to that one, too.

It all gets a bit tedious, but it does give us a reason to sit back for a while and think about what these various organizations are contributing to society. Are they doing a good job, or should they change what they are doing?

As we already mentioned, this is Education Week in Ontario. And with that in mind, it's a pleasure to be able to say that—in Haliburton County at least—students are getting an excellent education.

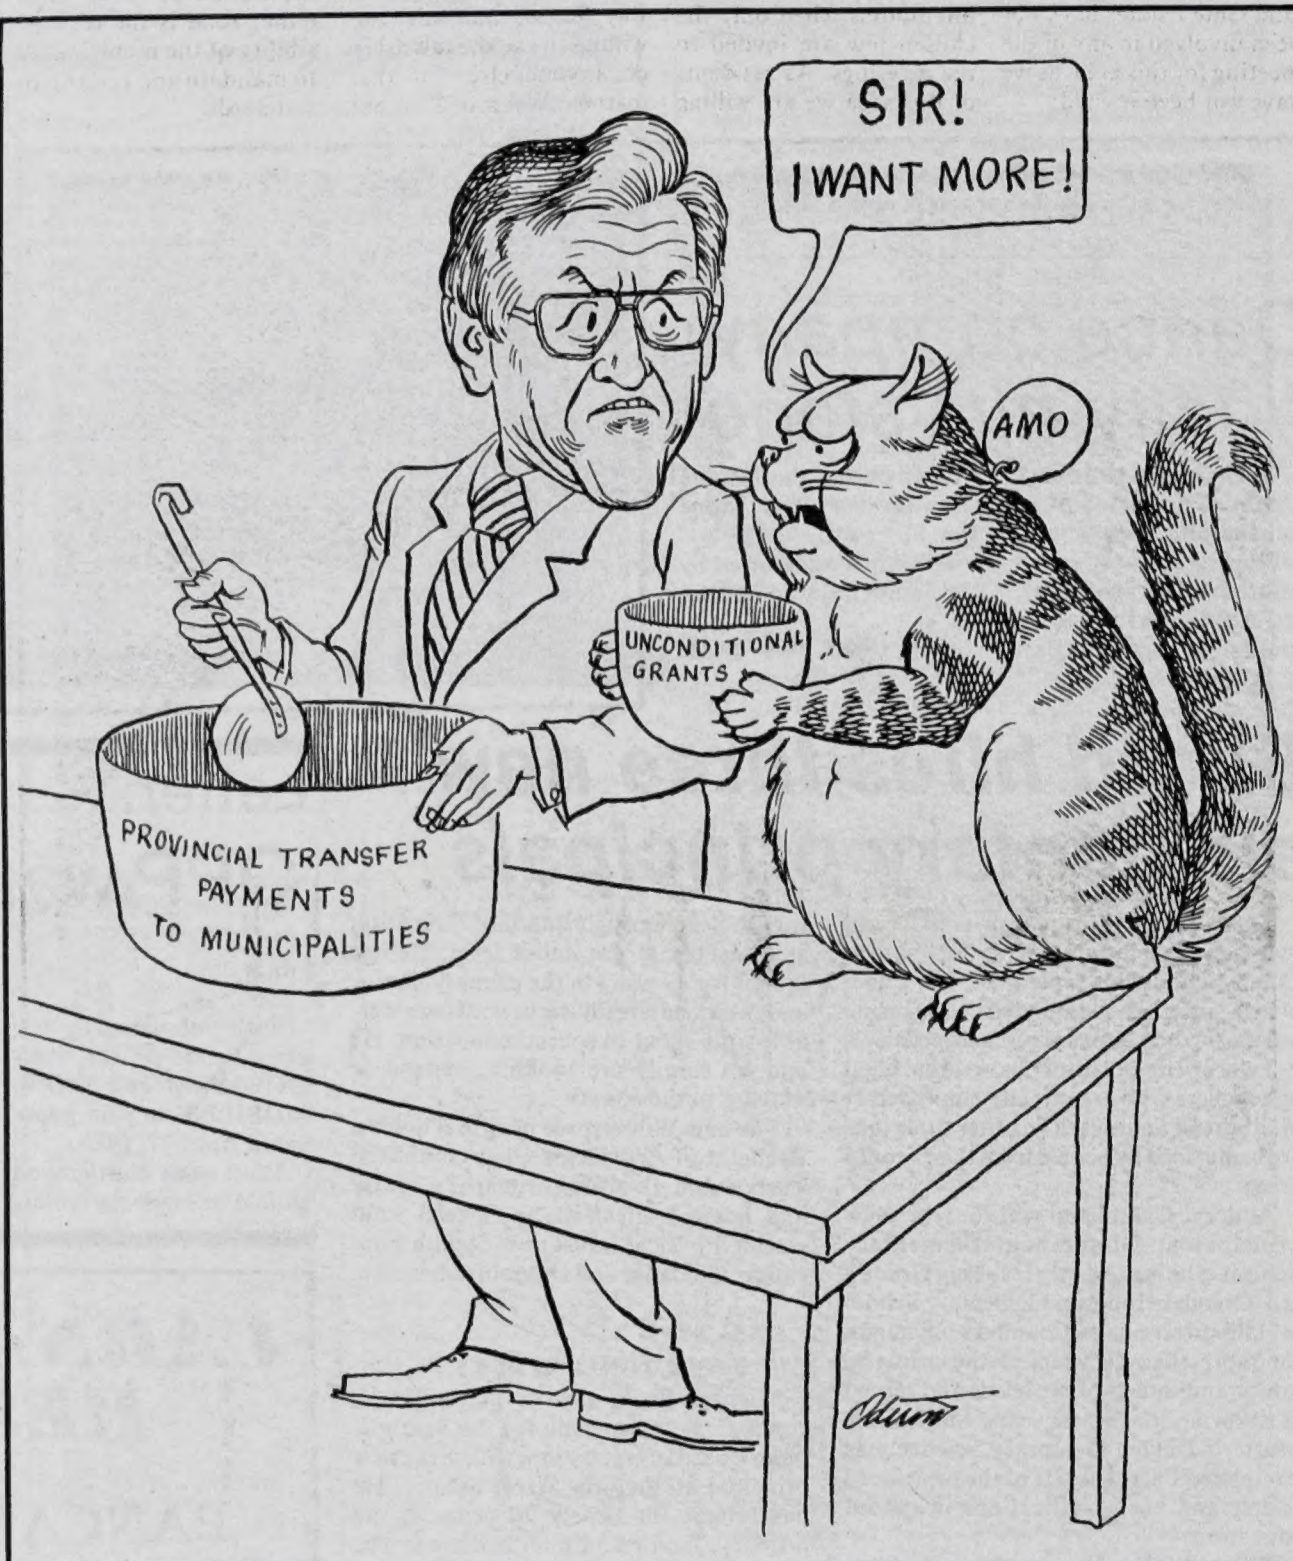

What's especially apparent in the schools these days is the level of awareness these students have about what is going on in their own communities. Not only are they encouraged to be aware of what is going on around them, but they are taking part in the decision-making process.

A few months ago a group of students, frustrated at the fact that there was no system set up in Minden to accept the recyclable waste they had collected as a class project, came to a municipal council meeting. They clearly spelled out to council what they wanted and in a short while their request was fulfilled.

Whether or not council met their request is really irrelevant. The point is that these kids learned something from the exercise. This is education at its best because it offers tangible results.

This is just one example of the style of education in this county. There are many others, and a sample can be seen in this week's paper. During the past week alone we've seen the students provide a public demonstration of gymnastics, there were science fairs, and participation in a music festival. One class even took the opportunity to speak out on the controversial issue of the use of the Lord's Prayer in public schools.

This high level of activity inside and outside of the schools is an indication that they are doing what they are supposed to do. We get an even better idea of how well our schools are running at the annual graduation ceremonies when a new crop of fine young adults leaves the system well prepared for their future challenges.

When high-tech security measures get out of hand

Back in the 19th century, North American Indians were introduced to the science of photography. It was a marriage that almost didn't take.

Photographers were surprised to learn that when they pointed their cameras at Sioux braves or Apache chiefs, the subjects responded by pointing arrows, spears and the odd Winchester 30-30 right back at the photographer.

The Indians weren't striking dramatic poses. They regarded cameras with about the same affection the Ayatollah would have for an autographed copy of Satanic Verses, which is to say they loathed the things. They believed that the camera could steal their spirits.

We've come a long way, Kemosabe.

Nowadays we don't much worry about the threat of cameras stealing our souls. We line up for the black 'n white

by Arthur Black

privilege of having our photos affixed to drivers' licences and company ID cards. Dentists and doctors regularly shoot X ray photos of impacted molars and twisted ankles. Automatic TV cameras routinely pan across whole shuffling hordes of us in banks, public washrooms and shopping malls. Even the corner store has a Big Brother eyeball mounted up in the ceiling. I'm on TV every time I drop in to buy a quart of two percent.

And there's more to come. If you find it offensive having a Rent A Cop run a metal wand under your armpits and over your privates every time you try to board a plane, chances are you're really going to have trouble with the newest wrinkle in the security game - an innovation called Veincheck.

Veincheck is a brand new security system for credit cards. The people in charge have decided that signatures are too easy to forge and fingerprints are too easy to steal. Accordingly, some day soon when you get to the checkout counter with your goodies and thrown down your charge card, you may be asked to hold out your wrist.

The checkout person will then take a picture of the back of your hand.

Not all Highland Gate residents want asphalt

Editor:

We as residents of Highland Gate Estates have not been involved in any of the meeting for this area, as we have not been invited.

As far as a unanimous vote for the residents of this area, we do not feel it is unanimous when only the chosen few are invited to the meetings. As residents of this area we are willing to accept the tar and gravel roads with asphalt gutters on the hill leading to Deep Bay Road, and are not willing to sue the township or anyone else, for that matter. We are also not willing to have our taxes go up for the sake of an asphalt paved road, when either road is the responsibility of the municipality to maintain and keep up to standards.

If you look at the upheaving and cracking on the road leading to Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home and compare it to any tar and gravel road you will see that the tar and gravel by far outstands the asphalt in this area, eg. Horseshoe Lake and Deep Bay Road.

Timely appreciation

Editor:

I thoroughly enjoyed your new format. The "Times" is improving every week. I want to thank all students and teachers for putting on an excellent performance at council last week, during our local government week - breakfast with council. I was amazed at the deliberations of "council" and especially "deputy reeve" for the occasion, Grant Wilson and his solution, to supply a snow plow on a fire truck. I feel his solution has a great deal of merit. We shall be seriously considering this at public works and council. The proposal as suggested might save a few cottages, that we can't get to under normal winter conditions.

Thanks to Susan Beers for sharing her laugh of the week. "Isn't that something unbelievable." No pun intended Haliburton.

Reeve Ray Moore,
Minden.

Fair and supportive

Editor:

On behalf of the HCSA, I would like to thank you for your support of our Association not only at the present time, but over the past years.

Your reporting of our recent meeting with local business people was accurate and the tone and content of your editorial was fair.

You and members of your staff have always helped us when we have asked for help and your support and co-operation are greatly appreciated.

Peter R. Overington,
President

Clarification

The letter to the editor printed in last week's edition of The Times "Intolerant of snowmobilers" was not written by Maurice Boyd of Lutterworth Township.

The letter, which rebuts the April 3 Editorial "Do we want them?" was signed by M. Boyd of Minden.

We regret any confusion this has caused.

Maybe the Indians knew what was in store

Kinky? Nope. The camera is scanning the subcutaneous veins in your hand and translating that pattern into digital information that is stored on the back of your charge card.

If what the camera sees doesn't match with what's imprinted on your card, it means you're using that charge card illegally.

Chances are at this point they'll ask you to hold out your other wrist as well.

To facilitate the fitting of handcuffs.

Veincheck fits right in with another hi-tech security system that's already being used in some exclusive circles where controlled access is crucial. It's called Eyedentification. With this one, a low intensity scanner looks right into your eyeballs and reads the pattern of blood vessels on your retina. Such patterns are, the experts say, like snowflakes - no two alike. Therefore, if your retina blood vessels don't check out, you don't get past security.

Veincheck is still in the experimental stage and Eyedentification is used primarily to control access to high security establishments and to keep track of prison inmates, but there's no reason to suppose that such systems couldn't proliferate and find their way into just about every corner of your life. Indeed, Joe Rice, the man who invented Veincheck, says he can see the day coming when you and I could program virtually everything we own - car, front door, television, VCR, checking account, motorboat at the cottage - to operate only when activated by a card that recognizes the vein patterns on the back of the owner's hand.

Revolutionary? Well I suppose. But I keep thinking of that old Charlton Heston sci-fi movie - the one about some Futureworld where every citizen has a silicon 'information' chip implanted in his wrist at birth.

And I keep remembering those Indians and their aversion to having their pictures taken.

I suspect those 'underdeveloped aboriginals' sensed something we're much too sophisticated to understand.

Kites of all sizes and colours

All heads were turned skyward

The sky above Haliburton's Head Lake Park was filled with colourful kites dancing to the gentle breeze that was rolling off the still-frozen lake on April 16. The kite-flying demonstration was organized by the Rails' End Gallery with the help of Kelli Dollo, Robin Lee, Heather Hutchings and Carrie Williamson. It was held in conjunction with an exhibition at the Gallery. Although the enthusiastic pilots would have enjoyed more of a wind, no one was complaining about the warm spring temperature. The event proved to be a delight for kite enthusiasts as well as observers who were ready to lend a hand to get the fragile crafts airborne.

Your Business

In the interest of enhancing the business climate in the Highlands, the Haliburton County Development Corporation is pleased to sponsor this informative business-oriented column. The material in this report was prepared by the Small Business Branch, of the Ontario Ministry of Industry, Trade & Technology.

GOOD RECORD KEEPING MAKES SENSE

When budding entrepreneurs are thinking about going on their own, their biggest concerns are probably financing, employees and trying to predict the demand for their product or service. Chances are, "keeping the books" is the last thing they're thinking about.

But small business people can easily save themselves lots of grief down the road if they invest a few hours at the outset determining what records should be kept and learning how to keep them.

Keeping simple, but accurate, financial records is more than just another headache. They provide a constant monitor of how the business is doing, they make tax time less painful and, when interpreted properly, can tell the owner how to manage the business more profitably.

Small business consultants urge the owner-operator to get help with the books if he or she doesn't have the time, desire or ability to keep decent records. The task can be delegated to a suitable employee or another qualified person. A glance in the yellow pages under "bookkeeping services" or "accountants" will also provide a long list of professionals. In a small town, a local banker can also refer the owner to an appropriate accountant or bookkeeper. Good records from a recognized local accountant will also make it easier to deal with the bank if financing becomes necessary.

The type of records that have to be kept will, obviously, vary from business to business. But the basics are constant. There are four general categories of records: daily entries, recurring entries, month end entries and year end entries.

As the name suggests, the daily records keep track of the cash coming in and going out on a daily basis, including purchases and sales made on credit. Recurring entries are things like payroll, payments on fixed assets, bank payments, insurance premiums, sales tax remittances to the province and the owner's investments in and withdrawals from the business.

Monthly records include a summary of income and expenses, a list of bad debts and the amount of inventory on hand. At the end of the year, an income statement and balance sheet should be prepared, the total employee earnings must be added up and the T4s compiled. And when the company's books are finished, the business person will be ready to file for personal income tax.

To take full advantage of this information at the end of the year, it is often useful to set aside some time to study the data and prepare a business plan for the upcoming year.

The Haliburton County Development Corporation was created to help business grow. Our manager, Andy Campbell, will be pleased to show you all the services available through the corporation. For more information call 457-3555 or visit our office on York St., Haliburton.

Drugs a major problem in province says Black, Community is needed to eliminate this plague between the U.S. and Canada made our country an attractive place from which to move drugs into the States.

Black called drug use a major problem in Ontario and said it's a contributing factor in street crime and family violence. He said 70 per cent of street crime in the province is linked to the drug trade.

To put the problem into a broader context, Black told the audience that drug use in Ontario was part of a much larger problem that we are all a part of—substance abuse in general.

He said alcoholism is also a serious problem in Ontario and more medical prescriptions are filled in this province than in any other district in the world.

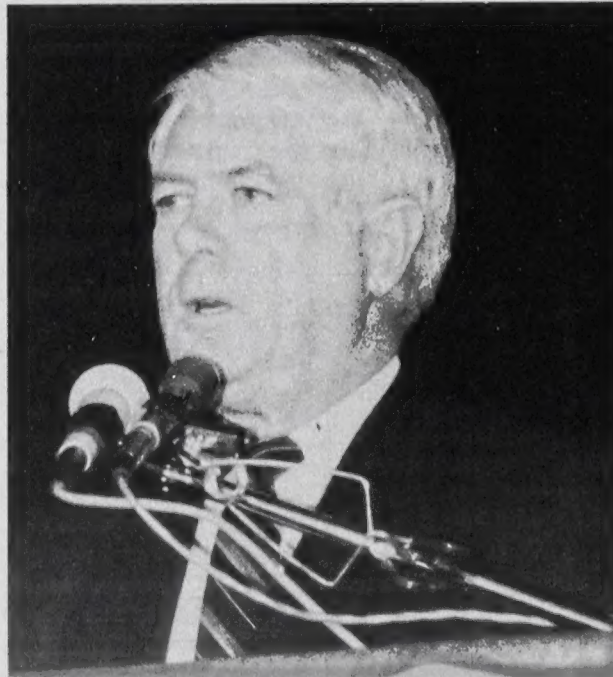

Having outlined the problem, Black then turned his attention on possible solutions.

"It won't work to try and lock up all the traffickers," he said. "There are not enough police officers, courts or jails and even if we could, somehow, lock them all up tonight, by tomorrow there would be a whole new flood to take their place. The profits involved are just too darned high."

Law-enforcement is part of the solution, admits Black, but the best the police can hope to do is to "hold the line."

"Education and prevention are the best approaches," he said, stressing that education should not be limited to just students. "I was a school principal at a time when many of the people in this room were experimenting with drugs," said Black referring to the 1960's. "But the situation has changed, increasingly drug use is in the adult population."

Black told the gathering about one evening last October when he accompanied undercover police officers on a stake-out of a Toronto housing development that was the location of substantial drug trafficking activity. He said drivers would pull into the development, flick their headlights and a dealer would run over to take their order. Black said many of the cars were Mercedes and Cadillacs and the customers were between the ages of 20 and 48 years. "Well off, affluent people."

So although drug use is a problem for teenagers it is also an adult problem and education programs should not only be in the schools but for parents and the community at large, said Black.

The report he wrote at the end of his eight-week investigation into the drug problem in Ontario includes 29 recommendations he feels would help address the issue.

He said the public will have to recognize that solving the problem will require the participation of many people in the community and he suggested the formation of community action groups that would bring together members of law enforcement, social agencies, service clubs, education professionals, churches and parents to work with young people.

Black also recommends mandatory drug education for all students beginning in Kindergarten. Black said this doesn't have to include showing five-year-old children samples of hard drugs but would begin with lessons about healthy lifestyles and deal with issues like cigarette smoking. He also said the education would have to go beyond just providing the students with facts about drugs. "Giving kids knowledge doesn't solve problems and it doesn't help them deal with social pressures." Students would have to learn how to

AN IMPORTANT NOTICE TO BUSINESSES IN HALIBURTON COUNTY CONCERNING SNOWMOBILING

The Executive of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association requests your attendance at Minden Council Chambers, on Friday, April 28, 1989 at 7 p.m. A meeting concerning the location of existing snowmobile trails and the structure of the H.C.S.A. as a snowmobile club will be held.

If your business is dependent on snowmobiling in any way, it is extremely important that you be represented. The future of snowmobile tourism in Haliburton County will be determined at this meeting.

PLEASE NOTE: This meeting is open to business principals or their representatives and is not a general meeting of the membership. Thank You.

Childrens' Aid Society frustrated by process

The Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society will have its 1988 budget deficit of $166,550 underwritten by the Ministry of Community and Social Services.

Society President Al Rennie made the announcement at the society's annual meeting in Lindsay last week. He said the ministry's announcement that it would cover the deficit made him regret some of the "ministry bashing" he had done in his comments in the annual report.

In the report, Rennie said one of the frustrations he has experienced is the funding process that exists for all Children's Aid Societies in the province. "It has been something like attending a Samuel Beckett play—amusing at first followed by a dawning sense of the illogical, culminating in a strong sense of the absurd and concluding with the recognition that the absurdity is the reality," he wrote. "Who other than the government would be prepared to sacrifice the Foster Care

Program at a cost of under $20 a day and by implication, replace it with a Group Home Program at costs in excess $100 a day."

Rennie said his criticism of the Ministry of Community and Social Services was not directed at the people in the local offices whom he said have been "exceptionally good."

The Society's Executive Director, Bob Penny addressed the annual meeting and backed up Rennie's comments. "We are fortunate the local area office is working with us and is understanding of what we do," he said. "The Ministry funding system is bizarre and needs overhauling."

In his annual report, Penny said the provincial funding process was a critical issue during 1988. "The province's inability and/or unwillingness to bring order to the chaos of Child Welfare funding works precisely against effective long-term planning. It also creates a frustration on the part of the voluntary boards which ultimately will destroy community participation."

In 1988 the society's expenses increased by 10 per cent in a year when the province was restricting them to an increase of four per cent, which led to the deficit. Penny called the ministry's decision to cover the deficit, "a vote of confidence for the actions we took to provide service."

Penny also touched on the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society's accomplishments of 1988. He said the caseload handled by the Society last year increased by 40 per cent over 1987. There was also an increase of 14 per cent in the number of children in the society's care.

In Haliburton, a Senior Social Worker position was created to provide more readily available day-to-day staff supervision.

The village of Minden was clean and tidy late last week after the local Guides and Brownies went on their annual spring litter chase. The young ladies cleaned up the park beside the municipal offices and then headed out to pick up litter along Main Street.

Input is sought into plans to rebuild county structure

Residents of Ontario's 26 counties were called on last Friday to take an active part in strengthening and updating the province's 140-year-old system of county government.

John Eakins, Minister of Municipal Affairs, issued this invitation after he and the province's county wardens received the report of the Consultation Committee on County Government at a specially-convened meeting Thursday.

"The county system has served Ontario well, and I am committed to ensuring that it continues to do so," he said. "But to do so effectively, it must reflect the realities of the 1990s which continue to show a marked change from the nature of the province in the 1840s."

"The committee report suggests that a strong county government would have the tools to cope with complex, controversial issues such as waste management, economic development and planning," he said.

"It further suggests that, unfortunately in some counties, the existing legislation does not facilitate an adequate response to these concerns."

The minister said the report was the culmination of the work of two provincially-appointed committees - the Advisory Committee on County Government and its successor the Consultation Committee on County Government.

He said the two committees had found that while substantial alterations have been made to the structure and functions of other local governments in Ontario, the county system remains much the same today as when it was introduced through the Baldwin Act of 1849. He said it is obvious that a number of changes are required to bring the county government system into line with the realities of today.

After 140 years it's time to overhaul the county government system.

"These committees went to a great deal of effort to solicit the opinions of all interested parties within the county government system," said Mr. Eakins. "I am now urging all of those who have shown their interest in the past, as well as anyone else who now cares to participate, to make their views known to me."

"To ensure that as many people as possible have an opportunity to let me know how they feel these initiatives should be undertaken, I will wait for their comments until mid-July before taking any action."

Eakins pointed out that in meetings held in all 26 counties, input was received from representatives of county councils, the councils of local municipalities and interested individuals and associations.

The issues were discussed with almost 800 people and more than 120 written briefs were received, resulting in 41 recommendations in the Consultation Committee report.

Among its recommendations, the report suggests ways to:

- strengthen local municipalities within counties;
- improve the way local municipalities are represented on county council; and
- ensure that services are being delivered by the most appropriate level of local government.

Students speak out on Lord's Prayer issue

The courts have had their say. The politicians and parents have voiced their opinions. Even teachers and preachers have spoken out. However, the people who are directly affected by the controversial Lord's Prayer ruling—the students—have been silent.

"When I think about the new law about the Lord's Prayer I don't think about it too hard," says Grade 6 student Andrew Sisson. "Why should I? I'm just a kid and nobody cares what kids think about it. Nobody ever asks what the kids think."

Andrew raises a good point. Since the province implemented its new policy governing opening exercises at schools, the Haliburton County Board of Education, its teachers and parents have been wrestling with this emotional issue—so much so that this county became the focal point of the province-wide debate. For a while, it seemed everyone was embroiled in this debate. Everyone, that is, but the kids.

Although no one has been listening, the students do have thoughts on this issue. They're angry—not so much at the new ruling, but at the fact that no one has thought to ask them what they think.

The students in Lyn Winan's Grade 6 class at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden believe they have been silenced for too long. Recently, they each put their feelings on paper and sent their reports to The Times.

'When in Rome, do as the Romans,' is what some of the students feel should have applied in the Ontario Court of Appeal's ruling on the use of the Lord's Prayer in morning exercises. Most, though, feel one minute of silence would start the day off just fine.

"The newspapers don't even ask us kids in school. All they do is ask the adults, but they don't ask us," one student said in his report. "I don't think it is fair! We have a right to an opinion, too. It's a free country."

Those students recently had their chance to voice their opinions to the paper during a class interview. Although they weren't as expressive in person as they are on paper, they did get their message across.

Like everyone else, the students are divided on this. Some believe the tradition of reciting the Lord's Prayer every morning should not have been taken away to appease a the non-Christian minority of this province. "When in Rome, do as the Romans," said one student who feels that the majority should not have to give up this privilege.

Most students in this Grade 6 class seemed to accept the spirit of the Ontario Court of Appeals ruling that no religion should be given a position of primacy in public schools. Although some said they miss the calming effect the morning prayer has on them, they say they do not miss reciting the prayer. They all agreed the it would be awkward for a person who is not of the Christian faith to have to recite this Christian prayer.

The idea that students may be losing out on a part of their religious education because of this ruling has been a central point of the arguments waged by adults. However, the students don't see it that way. Reciting the same prayer day after day becomes no more than a ritual. "After a while it doesn't mean anything," one student said.

If the students in this class had their way, there would be a period of silence at the beginning of each school day. During that time, each student would have the option of either standing quietly or saying a prayer to themselves.

Currently, the school has dropped its morning exercises altogether, the students say. Most would like to have something in place of the prayer, and a minute of silence is the most popular. "I think they should have a one-minute silence so whoever doesn't want to say the Lord's Prayer doesn't have to," said Scott Bacon. Samantha Reagin says, "My decision is one minute of silence so if you're a different religion you can say your own prayer. But that's just an opinion coming from a kid."

One student said that religion has no place in a public school system. "I think it should be a family subject and would be upset if my child was, might I say, being brainwashed."

However, when asked what they felt about religion classes, the students said they would enjoy learning about other religions, although they are baffled by the logic that allows religion classes to continue and outlaws morning prayer.

There has been a great deal of fuss made about a one-minute prayer in the morning, they contend, but religion classes which are 40 minutes per week are still considered to be alright.

Although the province's policy regarding opening exercises is finalized, a ministerial inquiry on religious education in public schools is underway. This inquiry will review existing policy, identify curriculum options, identify appropriate teacher preparation strategies, examine the results of previous inquiries, consult with interested parties and make recommendations of the Minister of Education by January 31, 1990.

The students in Class 6A would certainly be considered "interested parties". Maybe this time they'll have their chance to speak out before the final recommendations are made.

Provincial money kept local taxes low: Eakins

Eakins said that although there is no increase in unconditional grants, the average increase for overall transfer payments is 5.4 per cent.

The Minister also said municipalities should take into consideration the increases in conditional grants they have enjoyed in the past two years.

In 1987 the Haliburton County government received one of the largest increases in the province—35.1 per cent. In 1988 it received another increase of 17.4 per cent.

Anson, Hindon and Minden received respective increases of nine per cent and six per cent and Dysart received increases of 18.3 per cent and 8.8 per cent, also some of the largest increases in the province, according to Eakins. Increases in conditional grants in 1987 were also substantial with Minden receiving a 97.8 per cent and Dysart receiving a 51.1 per cent.

'It hasn't been flat-lined, it hasn't been cut, it's been increased,' says the Minister of Municipal Affairs. 'Municipalities should look beyond just one program,' he says of the recent criticisms.

For many years municipalities have been able to keep local tax increases low, due largely to the generosity of the province, says Eakins.

Over and above the money provided by transfer payments, Eakins said municipalities are beneficiaries of programs offered by the other provincial ministries. As examples he cites the $25,000 grant to the Haliburton Highland Games being held this summer and the $100,000 PRIDE grant received by Anson, Hindon and Minden last year. "It's a side of the story that's often never told," said Eakins. "It's all taxpayers' money."

The Minister said the province will be giving $18 million in PRIDE grants to municipalities this year, $4 million more than last year. "It all goes to municipalities," said Eakins. "It hasn't been flat-lined, it hasn't been cut it's been increased. Municipalities should look beyond just one program."

And Eakins said that since his government took office, federal transfer payments to the province have been cut by $4 billion, aggravating Ontario's financial situation. At the same time the province has increased capital expenditures for schools from $78 million to $300 million a year.

The Ontario Cabinet met with representatives of the Association of Municipalities of Ontario last Tuesday and the freeze on increases to unconditional grants was one of the topics discussed. Eakins described the meeting as positive and said Premier David Peterson asked him and association President Steven Clark to look for ways to improve communication between the province and municipalities. Eakins said he regularly meets with members of the association to keep them up to date on provincial programs.

Eakins has offered to meet with municipal and county councils to discuss government programs with them and hear their concerns about funding.

Comprehensive drug education is suggested

make decisions, and the education would have to involve dealing with attitudes and value systems to be effective and allow the students to say 'no' to drugs.

Black is suggesting schools offer comprehensive health education programs and devote one hour every week for every year the student is in school to the program. It is also important to reinforce what the students learn at school in the home and community, he says. "Parents have the greatest impact. We have to provide young people with positive role models in the schools, at home and in the community."

Another approach to dealing with Ontario's drug problem is an evaluation of existing drug treatment and prevention programs. "We have very good treatment programs, the only problem is they don't

According to Black, the number of people who return to drug use after undergoing treatment is very high. He recommends that the programs should be more available to people who need them.

As far as the legal approach to dealing with the drug problem is concerned, Black says existing penalties for narcotic-related offenses are high enough, but what is required is consistency in handing down sentences. "We need judges who understand the depth of the problem and who uses sentences as a deterrent."

Black also used the opportunity to outline what actions the provincial government are taking in response to his report. He said all ministries are looking at the problem to see what they can do to help. The Ministry of Education is currently developing a plan to implement the six recommendations that Black made with regards to an educational approach.

The Ministry of Health, in conjunction with district health councils, is looking at the best way to establish the community action groups that Black has recommended.

The challenge, says Black, is getting everyone involved because no one can solve the drug problem by themselves. "There is no right answer, and no easy solution," said Black, "but not acting at all is scary, all we have to do is look at American society to see what might happen. Whether or not that happens depends on the people in this room. If you see that the action that is necessary takes place, the provincial government will do its part. I can assure you of that."

Wedding Belles

Poor old Horace Hiccup sure needed the magical contents of his little brown jug last Wednesday afternoon when he was marched up to the altar at gunpoint to be wed to the lovely Mazy Day. Horace and Mazy were two of the characters in the humorous skit put on at the Zion United Church in Carnarvon on Wednesday afternoon as part of a fundraising luncheon. Above, Mazy (Barb Treszavage) stand at the altar with her father (Sandy Johnson) and future husband (Doreen Bullied). Left, the Justice of the Peace (Evelyn Coleman) offers a hanky to the mother of the bride (Pearl Foster). Mildred Archer played the father of the bride. A total of $322 was raised through donations that afternoon, all of which will be turned over to the Alzheimers' Society.

Hand-crafted paddles may come to township

Handcrafted paddles may soon be produced in Lutterworth Township if difficulties with the zoning can be ironed out.

Carol Marino and Ray Kettlewell came to council last Thursday asking for a minor variance that would allow them to build a detached workshop on their property, which is zoned rural.

Rural zoning does permit home occupations in up to 25 per cent of the living space of the house. However, Marino and Kettlewell want a larger building that would not be attached to their house. The zoning allows for detached storage buildings only.

They says they bought the 24-acre parcel of land partly because it had a cleared area where a work shop could be built. The reason they don't want it attached to the house is because they don't want to cut down any of the trees around the house.

Kettlewell and Marino hope to produce about 1,000 to 1,500 paddles a year, which they say is a small operation. They don't plan to have a showroom of any sort on the property and they won't be selling directly from their home.

Marino told council that they bought the property a year ago to build a home and a small workshop, similar to what they have at their present home. "The last thing in the world we would want is commercial zoning for the property," she said.

Council was receptive to their plans and offered a few alternatives for them to consider. "I think it's great," said councillor Bill Valentine. "I think it's a super thing to get in the township." He suggested that they could get around the problem by joining the house and the workshop with a breezeway.

Marino and Kettlewell said they would be considering the options available to them over the next few weeks.

Weaving together a hat

The Eastern Ontario Spinners and Weavers Association held their annual conference at the Pine Stone Inn on April 15. As part of the conference, a 'Fun With Fibre' fashion show featured some wild, daring and humorous woven wear. After the fashion show, the audience was given some materials and invited to make up some hats for their neighbours.

OPP Notebook

Officers of the Minden OPP Detachment investigated 58 general occurrences and nine traffic accidents with one person killed and two injured during the week ending April.

POSSESSION

An investigation has concluded with Ronald Alton, 37, of Oshawa, being charged with possession of stolen property. The original occurrences date back to March. Alton is to appear in Provincial Court on June 7.

CHARGED

Ronnie Clement, 19, of Haliburton was arrested for breach of an undertaking early in the morning of April 15. Clement, who is at large on several narcotics charges as found in violation of the Judicial Undertaking he entered into before a Justice of the Peace. He will be held in custody for another bail hearing in Lindsay.

IMPAIRED

Jeffrey Watson, 20, of Bowmanville, has been charged with impaired driving and driving over the legal limit after an accident on April 14 in the Wilberforce area. Watson is also charged with dangerous driving, failure to stop for police, driving with open liquor and breach of probation. He is to appear in court on June 7.

DOMESTIC

Terry Kondrotas, 26, of Rexdale, has been arrested and held or a bail hearing in Lindsay. Kondrotas, who had been drinking, attempted to leave a residence in Guilford, police say. A second person attempted to stop him from driving and was assaulted. According to the police report, Kondrotas left, but was stopped by police when he returned to the area a few hours later.

He has also been charged with impaired driving, driving with a blood/alcohol level of over 80 mgs., driving with open liquor, assault, and possession of a narcotic.

DRIVING TIP

Headlights on motor vehicles are required to be on from one hour before sunset until one half hour after sunrise. Headlights during the day help avoid accidents by making your vehicle more visible to other drivers.

Art Alive seeks more dancers

Kuna as a non-profit dance company to perform at events and for organizations around the county. Originally, they had planned to perform at a fashion show last fall, but the show itself had to be cancelled, which delayed their first performance in front of an audience until Friday.

The company has nine active members, but they are looking for many more to put on a two-hour dance revue for next summer. Guthy says that, although some dance experience is a benefit, it is not a prerequisite for becoming a member. Co-ordination, rhythm and commitment are more important.

Other members of the present company include Kim Coulter, Nancy Keetch, Skip Ray, Michelle Bromley, Cindy Wilson, Charlene English, May Waddel, and Jack Gubser.

For those who are interested in joining the company but not performing in public, Art Alive needs plenty of help in other areas such as props, set design, costumes and fundraising.

The dancers rehearse twice a week, Mondays and Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School gym. In September the nights will be changed to Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Membership in the dance company is open to both males and females over the age of 18. Anyone interested in joining is urged to call Dr. Guthy at 457-1514 on Monday, Wednesday or Friday afternoons.

For the younger people who are interested in dance, Diana Kuna will be teaching classes in balte, jazz and modern contemporary starting this September. Children as young as four years will now have the chance to learn the art of dance. The school plans to use the upstairs of the Dysar arena with classes available on weekdays after school and on Saturdays.

Charlotte and Ludger Cataford recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the Legion in Haliburton. The couple was married on April 12, 1939, in North Bay. The Catafords have a cottage on Gull Lake and have been spending vacations here since 1960. They moved to the Highlands permanently 10 years ago after Ludger retired from his job as a plant supervisor for Ontario Hydro. They have three children and seven grandchildren, who were responsible for this surprise celebration. Piper Earl Cooper accompanied the head table guests to their seats for the dinner.

Manufacturing part of new venture

Minden may soon be the fishing capital of Cottage Country, judging by the number of retail outlets in the area catering to the needs of anglers.

That number was increased by one last week when Clearwater Allure opened for business. Located on Highway 35, next to the Jug City store, Clearwater Allure is owned and operated by Corey and Kathy Adams.

The store features a full line of fishing requirements including worms and minnows, tackle, rods and reels, landing nets, and an excellent selection of supplies for the angler.

One of the interesting features of store is that fisherman can purchase the material needed to design their own special lures. Individual components are available, as well as complete kits, which include detailed instructions on making your own lures.

Corey and Kathy Adams also manufacture lures for other tackle shops to sell. Made in the workshop at the rear of the premises, they have found a market for their lures across Ontario and even into the maritimes. They even have a selection of "adult" lures.

The proprietors noted during the opening that they are excited about this venture and are looking forward to serving the needs of anglers. Their only concern, however, is that the store may cut into the time they have for their main interest...fishing.

With hook, line and scissors, two members of the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council officially mark the opening of Clearwater Allure. Councillor Mike Maher, with pole, and Deputy Reeve Bern Berry with the snips, do the honours as business owners Kathy and Corey Adams hold the ribbon. The business, which caters to the needs of anglers, is located on Highway 35, next to Jug City store, in Minden.

Pleads guilty to weapons charge

A Haliburton man has pleaded guilty to possession of a prohibited weapon, possession of stolen property and failure to appear in court.

Richard William Brown, 31, appeared in Provincial Criminal Court in Minden last Wednesday. Crown Attorney Rick Bagg told the court that on Oct. 30, 1987 officers from the OPP's Minden detachment received a call that two dogs were tied up outside a trailer in Guilford Township and it didn't appear they were being taken care of. Two officers went to the trailer and found that no food or water had

The officers found the door to the trailer unlocked and went inside to look for food and water for the animals tied up outside. Although they failed to find any food, the officers did find a sawed-off .22 caliber rifle and the 16-inch section of barrel that had been cut from the weapon. They seized the the gun and obtained a search warrant to conduct a further search of the premises. The subsequent search turned up a chainsaw which had been reported stolen in Laval, Quebec, in November 1984.

Brown was identified as the resident of the trailer and was charged for the possession of the gun and the stolen chainsaw. He appeared in court in June 1988 and again in July but failed to show up for a court date scheduled for September 7. At that time a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Brown told the court that he had been en route to Minden from Oshawa to appear in court when his car broke down. He turned himself into the Whitby OPP and had called the Minden detachment to explain his failure to appear. Brown also told Judge George Inrig that the chainsaw had already been in the trailer when he moved in and he had no idea where it came from or that it was stolen.

Judge Inrig fined Brown $150 on the weapons charge, $100 for possession of stolen property and gave him a suspended sentence on the failure to appear. He placed Brown on six months probation.

On May 3, Brown will reappear in Minden Court to face possession of narcotics charges.

Twenty two Grades 7 and 8 students from Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden recently attended the North Hastings Music Festival in Bancroft. They entered 12 events and earned eight first-place ribbons, two second-place ribbons and one third-place ribbon. Ronnie Reid played four different instruments in addition to the piano and won six first-place and one second-place ribbon. Seen here from the left (front row) are Tanya Berry, Heather McGann, Cheri Rivard, Toni Cooper, Damon Smith, Keith McKenzie, (middle row) Dawn Gartshore, Dawn Moore, Tina Gilbert, Angela Camelon, Julie Bird, Susan Hosken, Ronnie Reid, (back row) Sarah Newson, Emily Henderson, Carrie Warder, Dawn Warburton, Stacey Kernohan, Laura Hopkins, Kim Smith and Mr. G. Carter. Clinton Trumbull and Rhys Gray also attended the festival but were absent for the photo.

The clock tower on the Staunworth Terrace seniors complex has finally been filled. The illuminated clocks were set in place recently, one facing towards the village business centre and the other looking out over the fair grounds. Alex Stephenson, who headed up the campaign to raise the funds for this clock, said his job is almost complete. The clock is to honour the pioneers of the Stanhope, Lutterworth and Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships, and Stephenson hopes to soon have a special plaque set in place on the building.

'Seven Brides' opens soon

Rehearsals are under way for Lindsay Little Theatre's spring production of 'Seven Brides for Seven Brothers'. The club is excited about this project, the first time they have single-handedly mounted a musical. Kathy Charlwood, club president said, the club was taking on such a large undertaking for three main reasons: to use the many new members who have joined over the past year, to exercise some of the musical talent which abounds and to raise some funds for a home. The club has been homeless since the old quonset hut by the river was demolished.

Director Gayle Green-

slade said, "This play is a lot of fun. There's a lot of singing, dancing and light-hearted action. The play centres around a family of brothers who have been without 'the fair sex' for some time and whose lifestyle certainly shows it. Their solution is drawn from the classics (Plutarch's Lives) but is far from classic in its execution.

Seven Brides for Seven Brothers is set in Oregon in the 1850s. The eldest brother of a family of 'mountain men' marries a wife, setting his six younger brothers mooning for the girls they saw in town. The girls are abducted and cut off from town by an avalanche (yes, right there on the Academy stage). After a lonely winter in the mountains, there is a spring wedding scene to beat all of them - complete with seven of each - brides and brothers and fathers with shotguns.

Tickets for the play will be on sale in April by calling 324-6694 evenings. The cost is $7 per reserved seat or $6 for students seniors and groups of 20 or more. The show plays at the Academy Theatre May 5, 6, 11, 12 and 13. Curtain 8 p.m.

Sharing the past through libraries

One of the greatest pleasures of reading is to share the past through the writings of the world's greatest authors, thinkers, and men of letters. How often we hear of famous men being quoted and wish we could learn more about what they are thinking and what it is that makes them great.

The Great Books of the Western World gives us all the chance to become acquainted with these people of the past at our own leisure.

Our library holdings have not been extensive in this area in the past but as part of our collection development scheme, we have managed to expand into an area that has a steady level of interest throughout the county. Major works from Chaucer to Freud, Swift to Hegel, even Dante to Heroditus are all available for loan through your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library.

Help Shape the Future of Your County

Issues such as waste management, economic development, an aging population... and increasing costs... are putting an impossible strain on our county government system which has changed little since 1849.

That's why the Minister of Municipal Affairs set up an Advisory Committee on County Government in 1987 to study ways in which this vital segment of municipal administration could be updated to face the realities of today. He followed this up with the appointment of a Consultation Committee on County Government in 1988 which held hearings in each of Ontario's 26 counties to get YOUR views on this important topic.

Taking into account suggestions made by county government representatives, members of municipal councils and interested individuals and associations, the Consultation Committee drew up a report containing 41 recommendations, including ways to:

- strengthen local municipalities within counties;
- improve the way local municipalities are represented on county council;
- ensure that services are being delivered by the most appropriate level of local government.

The Minister of Municipal Affairs wants whatever form of government can best serve the needs of each county. Your views are important and the Minister would like to hear from you before July 14th, 1989.

To receive your copy of the Report, complete and return the attached coupon to the address listed below. After studying the report, you can make your views known to the Minister by writing to him at the same address.

Serving science with dash of flair

There was no telling from the quality of the projects entered in last Tuesday's Science Fair at Archie Stouffer Elementary School that these students had never taken part in a fair before. There were dozens of creative, innovative and just plain interesting projects filling three classrooms at the school throughout the day and into the evening. This was the first science fair in the county, and was followed the next day by another at J.D. Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton.

ABOVE: Grant Wilson keeps a close eye on the thermometer. His project examined the rate at which various volumes of water will cool. He determined through his experiment that the greater the volume, the slower it will cool down.

ABOVE RIGHT: Jennifer Murison and Emily Henderson didn't break any records with their experiment, but they sure cracked up a lot of eggs. They were trying to devise a protective covering that would prevent an egg from shattering in a controlled drop. They eventually succeeded by wrapping an egg in Kleenex and placing in a paper bag.

Minden MNR Misfits take it all the way

by Wayne Wilson

The MNR Minden Highlanders hockey team, affectionately called the 'Misfits' recently competed in the 15th Annual Provincial MNR Hockey Tournament with some 25 teams from across the province. The tournament, held in Belleville on March 30 to April 2, attracted teams from as far away as Chatham, Nipigon, Moosonee and Cornwall Districts.

The tournament consisted of a four game round-robin to determine the four top teams in each division followed by a semi-final and final game. Teams were placed in each division, based on success of past tournaments. The Minden squad was placed in the Lake Ontario Division with five other teams including: White Lake, North Bay, Muskoka, Bracebridge and Nipigon.

The MNR tournament provides an unequalled opportunity for 500 or so Ministry staff to rekindle old acquaintances, enjoy great camaraderie (party) and play a little hockey.

Now, back to the hockey. The Minden team was expecting a tough but enjoyable tournament. Over the past few years they had experienced on the ice more losses than wins. However, the Highlanders Misfits had always managed to hold their own off the ice.

Minden's first game started Thursday at 10:20 a.m. in the Quinte arena against the White Lake Hooters. The Minden fellows started off slowly and showed the effects of travelling since 6 a.m. With two minutes left to play Minden was behind 2-1 and it looked like Minden was down for the count. However, a strong finish by the 'Misfits' produced two quick goals giving them a 3-2 victory over the Hooters. Brant Jones was named MVP and received a 'priceless' gold-rimmed glass.

The Misfits second game started at 5:10 p.m. in the Belleville Memorial Gardens against the North Bay Bombers. Again the Minden team started slowly and was down 3-1 after the first period. However, by the second period the team seemed to gel and scored four goals while allowing only one. With less than one minute to play the Misfits bore down and give birth to the winning goal. Beating the strong North Bay squad was a tremendous morale builder, but some Misfits started to fear that they may have to give up some of the social time to hockey, i.e. the "Semi-finals", a sobering thought.

Again Brant Jones played a strong game winning the MVP award and added a second 'priceless' gold-rimmed glass to his collection. Much socializing occurred on Thursday evening, but it all seems like a blur now.

Hockey began at 8 a.m. on Friday against our archrival Bracebridge (more on page 32)

A Coleman® cooler big enough for a house!

New 9+ S.E.E.R. Coleman® Cooler Air Conditioner

Wouldn't it be great if the trusty Coleman® cooler (ice chest) were big enough to cool a whole house? Its simple design, economical cost and efficiency are hard to beat when you have to cool off a watermelon or case of soft drinks.

That's why Coleman's Residential Heating and Air Conditioning Division didn't have to look far for a "role model" or a namesake, when they set out to build a new air conditioner with quality, efficiency and an affordable price.

The new 9+ SEER Coleman® Cooler Air Conditioner* uses advanced design and production techniques. That translates to a lower purchase price, quicker and simpler installation, faster service when needed, and...Coleman quality.

*Ratings will vary depending upon size and model purchased.

for your service

by John Beattie, Legion Branch 636

The accomplishments of our outgoing executive will be reviewed in next month's column by Comrade David McAdam.

A hearty congratulations from the membership was bestowed upon the newly-elected Branch President and Branch Executive: President Sally Bonner; 1st Vice President David McAdam; 2nd Vice President Gareth Kellett; Secretary Isobel Lewis; Treasurer Cliff Green. Other Executive members in are Comrades Louis Adamson, Frank Dunsford, Ken Wallace, Lynn Winans, and Gladys Wruth. Sgt.-At-Arms is Ken Walsh. President-Elect Sally Bonner requested, and the membership agreed, to leave any more executive positions open for her consideration. President Anthony Samarillo thanked Acting Zone Commander Ken Bell, and Scrutineers (most from Haliburton Branch) for supervising a very smooth election, and installation of officers, on April 5.

Next General Meeting is on Wednesday, May 3, at 7:30 p.m. sharp. The Quilt Draw will take place as well.

By the time this is published, the Branch "April Showers Spring Fling" will have been held. If it was as successful as the St. Pat's dance, then a monthly dance might be a regular enjoyment.

Sports and Games officer Ken Wallace has organized Euchre every week at 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays. Members and Guests most welcome. All were pleased that 10 tables were filled up on the very first night!

The District "F" Convention is to be held this week on the 28th and 29th. Our Branch will be represented by two Comrades.

Doing this column for a year has been a pleasure. I believe the "non-interference" stand of this newspaper is just great. The paper has added some most welcome splashy headlines, to a sometimes boring report.

I feel it is time to pass on the opportunity. Comrade David McAdam is going to ably carry it on. Always have time for those comrades not feeling their best.

Coleman Powermate, Inc., and CSA have advised owners of Powermate Model PM 3000 electric generators of a potential fire hazard which may exist in these generators

Highland Games receive healthy boost

The first annual Highland Games received a shot in the arm last week when Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins announced the approval of $25,000 in marketing assistance funding.

"This event is going to bring thousands of people into Haliburton County and I am very pleased that it will receive the increased publicity with this allocation for marketing assistance," Eakins says.

The Games, scheduled to take place June 24 in Glebe Park in the village of Haliburton, will include a variety of activities. There will be competitions in the categories of: pipe bands, solo piping, drum major events and drums.

About 15 bands are expected to attend and also scheduled is a Highland Games dance competition. A number of local organizations are helping out in the preparations, including various service clubs, the Haliburton County Chamber of Commerce, the Royal Canadian Legion, area municipalities and many local tourist associations.

"This funding is only one example of the many kinds of financial assistance being shared with municipalities and municipal organizations," Eakins says. "Without this kind of support, many of these programs would not be viable and the local municipalities would find it more difficult to support."

Eakins made the announcement on behalf of Hugh O'Neil, Minister of Tourism and Recreation. The funding comes from the Destinations East program, which is a seven-part initiative designed to improve tourism in eastern Ontario.

which have been manufactured by Coleman Powermate, Inc., and its predecessor, Ag-Tronic, Inc. Owners of these generators are advised to stop using them immediately until they are repaired.

All Powermate Model PM 3000 generators manufactured between December, 1983 and September, 1988 are being recalled to correct the problem. These generators are used mostly for recreational vehicles, on camping expeditions and in cottages.

For further information concerning this recall and rework procedure, contact: Roger McHugh, Coleman Powermate, Inc., c/o The Canadian Coleman Supply Company, 15 North Queen St., Toronto, Ont. M8Z 2C6 (416) 252-6161.

Canada Post Corporation

Keeping our commitment in rural Canada

One of the most important parts of our commitment to rural Canadians is making postal products and services more accessible.

To help us do this, we draw on the resources and the expertise of local business. Where practical, we are approaching business people in communities across the country and offering them the opportunity to provide you with postal products and services. As a result, you can now buy postal products or services in more locations at convenient hours, often including evenings and weekends.

Real benefits for everyone

More outlets. The objective is to increase the number of rural locations where you can access postal products or services from 5,000 to 7,000.

More convenience. Retail postal outlets are conveniently located in businesses close to other services in communities across Canada. Longer business hours give you even more accessibility to postal products.

More business for local merchants. Local merchants are being given an opportunity to provide postal products or services. This strengthens their business through increased customer traffic, and maintains the business base of the community.

More efficient service. With local merchants retailing postal products and services, Canada Post Corporation is able to concentrate on reliable pick-up, processing and delivery of mail to Canadians.

*Canada Post Corporation is delivering on its promise.
We're in rural Canada to stay.*

Our commitment: better service for you.

AIDS prevention is topic at Minden WI meeting

Mrs. C. Lacey welcomed 22 members and four guests at the April 19 meeting of Minden Women's Institute at the common Room. After the usual opening, Mrs. Lacey introduced the guest speaker, Margaret Graham from our Health Unit. She spoke on 'AIDS' and how it affects our group at home and away. The details she gave clarified much as she also answered questions from the floor. All joined in applause showing our appreciation.

Mrs. D. Berry then came forward and made a presentation of a gift to Verla Wilson, a valued member, who is soon moving away. She also received a gift from the Martha Group of the UCW from Doris Grant. Then a very surprised Mary Cox received her life membership certificate and badge from president Mrs. Lacey.

The meeting then continued with delegates to the District Annual at Fenelon Falls being Jean Lacey, Mary Cox, Rheta Brown and Jeanne Sears. Mrs. W. Moore gave her report of 21 cards being sent since the end of March and collections were taken for Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship.

The honoraria are to be paid to Secretary and Treasurer and we are sending a cheque for the "loaf of bread" to District Annual.

Mrs. Kernohan gave her bus trip report and stated she would appreciate a downpayment of $20 on these bus tickets as soon as possible and the remainder by June 1.

Some members will be going to Baddow Centre on an invitation from Lakeview Branch on Thursday May 11 leaving the past office at 12:45. Plans were then made for the lunch to be served on May 4. Jean Lacey then thanked us for our kindness and co-operation while she was president. She then declared all offices closed. Mrs. Kernohan then conducted the election with Mary Cox taking notes.

Past president Mrs. C. Lacey, president Mrs. M. Sears, 1st V.P. Mrs. W. Moore, 2nd V.P. Mrs. E. Deacon, secretary Mrs. Lyman Cox, treasurer Mrs. A. Kernohan, district director Mrs. Lyman Cox, alternate Mrs. C. Lacey, Branch directors Mrs. A. Coulter, Mrs. D. Berry, Gwen Cox and Freda Hulbig. Programme coordinator Mrs. D. Cox, curator & publicity Mrs. Sears, Resolutions Mrs. R. Hughes, Current Events are Mrs. Ern Hewitt, Family & Consumer Affairs Mrs. A. Coulter, Education & Cultural

Affairs Mrs. J. Hulbig, Agriculture & Canadian Industries Mrs. Don Berry, Citizenship & World Affairs Mrs. C. Lacey, Card Convener Mrs. W. Moore, Agriculture rep. Mrs. Lyman Cox, Auditors Mrs. A. Coulter and Mrs. B. Stamp. The Executive then came forward and were welcomed by other members.

The meeting adjourned and a social half hour followed.

The next meeting is May 17 at 2 p.m. at the same place with all ladies welcome.

MNR Misfits easily tackle Moose Smuckers

Hawks, another sobering fact. The Minden Highlanders had always had their hands full against Bracebridge and knew this was a major test. However, the Minden fellows seemed a different squad that morning, almost misty eyed and with determined effort they made it to the bench. The Misfits passed up a storm that morning and went on to defeat Bracebridge 4-1. Speechless the team retired to the dressing room to ponder this amazing feat. Oh yes, Brant Jones was again selected as MVP accepting a third 'priceless' gold-rimmed glass.

The Minden gang felt relaxed, knowing their next game at 4 p.m. against the highscoring Nipigon Nipples, win or lose, would result in Minden advancing to the semi-finals.

The Nipigon-Misfits game amazed even the most confident Minden player. Everything connected and Minden shot to a 6-1 romp over Nipigon. But wait, was Nipigon just coasting knowing they were in the finals win or lose? Only time would tell. This game saw Hardy Kraft start his own collection of 'priceless' gold-rimmed glasses as the MVP - sorry Brant.

That evening serious sessions were held by the Minden squad as they pondered and celebrated their round-robin victory, finishing first in the Lake Ontario Division with four straight wins.

The chips were down Saturday morning at 9 a.m. when the Minden club faced off with the Muskoka Moose Smuckers out of Huntsville, another strong rival team, for the semi-final game.

The Misfits were all over the ice, shooting 15 straight shots on the mighty Muskoka goalie without a single goal. The Minden team was starting to wane, would the momentum change? Then it happened. One, then two, then three goals went past the not-so-mighty Muskoka goalie. The game ended with Minden up by 3-0 - amazing.

Misfit goalie Jim Hambleton had steadily grown stranger (sorry, stronger) through the tournament and won the MVP award, his first coveted 'priceless' gold-rimmed glass.

The 11 a.m. final game was at hand, and sure enough, the Nipigon team had beaten their rival North Bay squad in their semi-final game and was ready for the Minden bunch.

This wrap-up game between the Nipigon Nipples and the Minden Misfits proved a test of endurance as both teams were in their sixth game in three days and all players had been involved in numerous heavy strategy sessions over that time. Aching muscles and sore bodies were rampant on both teams.

This Nipigon team was not the same team the Minden fellows easily beat on Friday. The game went back and forth with Minden's Hardy Kraft scoring first. Perhaps he wanted to add to his 'priceless' gold-rimmed glass collection. Nipigon struck back scoring in the last half of the first period. Minden struggled but managed to hold the game at 1-1 to the end of the first period. The mood was tense in the dressing room as both squads gathered their strength for the final period.

The Minden boys felt the game was still within reach but momentum had swung with the Nipigon club. Crunch, the period started with Nipigon taking a penalty. The Minden lads mounted a power play. A perfect pass from the young Ben Manuge to the not-so-young Wayne Wilson surprised everybody as Wayne's high drive beat the Nipigon goalie. Was Wayne gunning for the 'priceless' gold-rimmed glass? Perhaps! Shortly after, Brant Jones made a beautiful rush and netted Minden a 3-1 lead. However, Nipigon stormed back with a strong second half. A Highlanders penalty with four minutes left gave Nipigon a golden opportunity. Swish...they scored their second goal and the game was within their reach. The final two minutes saw Nipigon Nipples pressing hard but Minden held them off. The buzzer sounded, the game was over, the Minden Highlanders/Misfits had done it - six games straight. Brant Jones again was the MVP and most assuredly deserved it. He had won a 'priceless' collection of four gold-rimmed water glasses over the six games, the envy of everyone.

Wayne Wilson, team captain, author of this report and not-so-young guy, accepted the trophy for the team and paraded with the utmost dignity through the arena. It was unbelievable. Not since 1976 had the Minden squad won any hardware at the Provincial Tournament. Everyone on the team played to the utmost of his capability and collectively, the team was successful. I will end this chronicle by thanking my fellow teammates for their support, encouragement, friendship and blue light.

Gymnastics team achieves a third

The Kinmount-Burnt River Public School Gymnastics team won third place in Victoria County Elementary School Gymnasts Meet on April 14.

Fourteen teams from Elementary Schools throughout the county matched their skills at I.E. Weldon Secondary School at the 16th Annual Victoria County Elementary School Girls' Gymnastic Meet.

Four teams, two juniors, one intermediate and one senior team from Kinmount and Burnt River Public Schools combined participated at the all-day event.

Outstanding team effort on behalf of the Kinmount-Burnt River grade 5 and 6 students resulted in a third place overall standing in the Victoria County School Meet.

Members of this team are grade 6 students: Kelly Fleming, Jennifer Stender, Corrie Stender, Christina Windrum and a grade 5 student Pamela Stender.

Individual effort by Jennifer Stender, Kinmount Public School, gave her Victoria County's Silver Medal win in the Residents visit Gallery to see students' artwork

Hello folks. Thursday the ladies of the U.C.W. provided our tea and served it. They had a sing song after tea. The entertainment was appreciated by the Residents.

No one came to call bingo on Thursday night. We had fun and fitness Friday morning and at 1 o'clock Mrs. Coleman had Bible study from Luke chapter 11.

Ray Jenkins whose mother is a resident, came to see her. While here, played the piano for nearly two hours for the residents, who enjoyed it very much. Whenever Mr. Jenkins comes, he always plays for us.

Last Sunday Dora Dawson had Stan and Nellie Dawson and Isabelle

senior league

by Winnifred Barnum

Gibbs call on her. Thursday, April 16, Isabelle Gibbs called on her again.

Alice Todd, Friday, with her son Jim and family, went to Lindsay and shopped and went for a very good dinner.

Happy birthday to Gordon Ruttle whose birthday was April 12th.

Tanya Allaire called for bingo Saturday in the Auditorium.

Lily Hogg had a fall Saturday and broke her hip. She was taken to Lindsay Hospital. We wish her a speedy recovery.

It was such a beautiful day Saturday, many visitors came in to visit relatives. My son Terry picked me up for lunch and a drive Saturday afternoon.

We are pleased to have Hazel Hoskin back with us.

On Sunday night chapel service was conducted by Mr. Burgess. Monday afternoon Linda and Ellen took six Residents to the Art Gallery to see the art display of children from Wilberforce, Victoria Street School in Haliburton and Archie Stouffer in Minden.

The art was very well done.

Terri Lynn Fearrey came Monday night to show two films, "The Rivermen" and "Dead End Trail" played by Roy Rogers. Thank you Terri Lynn.

Pearl Lyle had her daughter Anna and several other visitors. Pearl's daughter Jean and husband George have gone on a trip to Campbell River, B.C.

Rev. Dawn Gilby took Tuesday morning service followed with communion.

In the afternoon we played cards and crokinole in the auditorium.

May Horsley and Ina McGuire had their brother Ray and Norma to see them Wednesday.

Wednesday evening Diane Smith and her class of 20 pupils who took music, came to the auditorium with their parents to play for the residents. The auditorium was nearly full. One boy played the accordion and the others played piano, several for the first time in public. I wish to thank them on behalf of the residents of Hyland Crest. They all appreciated and enjoyed the program very much, also the treats the children passed out after. The nursing staff served us all with tea, etc. Thank you all.

It looks like spring this morning!

TOWNSHIP OF SNOWDON PUBLIC MEETING CONCERNING A PROPOSED ZONING AMENDMENT

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Snowdon will hold a public meeting on the 8th day of May, 1989, at 8:00 p.m. at the Township Office in Gelert to consider a proposed zoning amendment under Section 34 of the Planning Act, 1983.

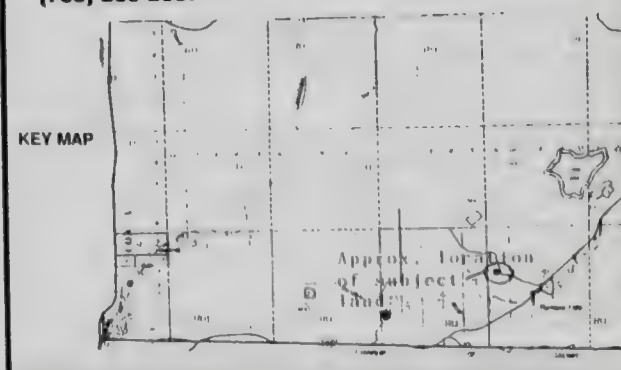

THE PROPOSED zoning amendment would change the zoning on about 6 acres of land owned by Mr. and Mrs. G. Spencer in part of Lot 16, Concession II (as shown on the Key Map below) to General Residential (R) to make the new lots comply with the Zoning By-Law.

ANY PERSON may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed zoning amendment.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION relating to the proposed zoning amendment is available for inspection in the Township Office during regular business hours.

DATED at Gelert, Ontario this 5th day of April, 1989.

Mr. E. A. Hills, Clerk-Treasurer
Township of Snowdon,

Man fined $250 for fraud

A Scarborough man has been fined $250 for fraudulently obtaining food and lodging from a local resort.

Daniel Rayal Meisner, age 23, pleaded guilty to the charge in Minden Court last Wednesday and also pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to appear for a scheduled court date.

The court heard that Meisner and several friends stayed at the Pine Grove Point resort in Harcourt for a week in July of 1987. At the end of the week, Meisner paid his share of the bill with a cheque for $213.69. When the resort owners attempted to cash the cheque it was returned with the explanation that Meisner had closed out the account the week before.

Meisner explained to the court that he had been in the process of moving when he went to Pine Grove and forgot he had closed the account when he wrote the cheque. He said he would be happy to pay back the money he owed the resort. He also explained that he had failed to appear for his May 1988 court date because he did not recall getting a summons.

Judge Inrig fined Meisner

$250 for the fraud charge, $150 for the failure to appear charge and ordered Meisner to make full restitution to the resort for the money he owed. Meisner was placed on six months probation.

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Getting a glimpse of the Tundra Swans

by Marion Streb
Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Sometimes, even in the first flush of optimism that comes with every spring, it is difficult not to feel hopeless about the state of the world - the oil spill in Alaska, poisoned drinking water in some communities in south-western Ontario, and everywhere the continuing destruction of wildlife habitat. However, last week I was able to flush all negative thoughts from my mind, at least for a while. Just before the mild weather arrived I visited Long Point with a Federation of Ontario Naturalists Membership Trip to catch a glimpse of the Tundra Swans before they continue on to the Arctic.

Our timing was perfect. The great white birds appeared to have settled in for a little rest and relaxation. They were flying to open water in noisy flocks of 10 - 30, or settling in the fields like drifts of melting snow. And the air was filled with their urgent melodious baritone, so different from the higher pitch of the Canada geese.

Other migrants had also arrived. In the open waters of the bay a raft of 100 - 150 canvasbacks floated. In among the flock a few small ruddy ducks popped up and down, and one lone pied-billed grebe.

In the marsh flocks of Pintails and Green-winged Teal dabbled, and, for almost every cattail, male Red-winged Blackbirds proclaimed territory in virtuoso trills. From the ditches, along the beach, and from the grass along the road, Killdeer erupted loudly, displaying their lemon-yellow rumps. And everywhere we looked there were Song Sparrows. Occasionally, in among the Song Sparrows, a larger, redder more athletic sparrow kicked and hopped to get at hidden goodies - a Fox Sparrow.

Further out in the marsh our leader, Martin Parker, spotted a Great Horned Owl perched on the cattails. Although we watched it for some time, only its head moved in constant surveillance. Was it hunting the muskrat that were active in the marsh? It must already have a nest somewhere in the trees lining the marsh.

Not far past the owl, we found the birds we were looking for, two Bald Eagles, both mature birds with white heads, perched in a large tree overlooking the marsh. Sitting side by side, one preening with exaggerated care, they looked very domestic. We wondered if they had already established a nest somewhere on Long Point.

The return of the Bald Eagle to Lake Erie is a modest success story which helps to counter all the bad news about the environment. This February the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources issued a report about the return of the Bald Eagle to parts of south-western Ontario.

Fifty years ago Bald Eagle nests were dotted along the Lake Erie shore and the Thames River. But by 1980, the population had hit an historic low with three nesting pairs on the Long Point peninsula, Rondeau Provincial Park, and Essex county had no successful nests and the nesting adults on the Thames had disappeared.

By 1988, partly owing to a joint ministry and

Protecting the eagle nests

Canadian Wildlife Service "hacking" program, the population was showing a modest recovery. birds which are "hacked" are hatched in a breeding facility, and then are kept in a hacking box at the release site until they are fledged. There has also been a co-operative program sponsored by the ministry, and the Hawk Cliff Raptor Banding Station to involve interested landowners with nest sites on their property. In 1988 the total number of eaglets produced from sites at Long Point, Talbot Creek, Elgin county, Rondeau, and Essex county was a healthy 45.

However, the report goes on to emphasize that the Bald Eagle population in southern Ontario is still extremely fragile, but that the increases are "hopefully a reflection of a gradual improvement in the environment of the Lake Erie Bald Eagle community." The Atlas of Breeding Birds of Ontario stresses that the distribution of the eagles "depends on the availability of high quality habitat, which must provide both protection from human disturbance and abundant uncontaminated prey."

In order to protect the eagles from human disturbance, there has been a joint initiative to educate the public and encourage protection of eagle nests.

CARD OF THANKS

Ludger and Charlotte Cataford wish to express our loving thanks to our children and grandchildren, also Helen and Sandra S. for their superb organization of a surprise dinner and dance at the Haliburton Legion to celebrate our 50th wedding anniversary.
To our friends and relatives who came from all parts of Ontario and Rochester, New York, we thank you. Your attendance made it a very special day. Open house was held on Sunday at our home where we had another chance to review our memories, past and present. To those who sent gifts, flowers, cards and telephone calls of good wishes.
Thank you. To our children,
Conrad, Sandra, Bob and Iris, Sandra and Helen and our grandchildren, Kim, Susan, Ian, Todd, Cameron and Sean, a special thanks for the V.C.R. and video-tape of our 50th anniversary party.
Our heartfelt thanks. It all came together so smoothly.
What more can we say except we love you and wasn't that a party!

Mom and Dad

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Dr.
Holliday-Rhodes, Dr. Asbell, nurses, and all other staff of the Minden Hospital for their kind deeds and care. Also for cards, phone calls, prayers and flowers. My family for their kind deeds every day, and taking me to Peterborough and Toronto, Rev. Moll for his calls. God bless you all.

Blanche MacIntosh

The family of the late Sharon Lynn Wright would like to thank all the friends and neighbours for their sympathy and kindness during our time of sorrow. Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.

Herb Reimer, Joe Anthony, Barbara O'Reilly and family.

IN MEMORIAM

STEVENSON: In loving memory of our niece Lola Bernice, who left us April 23, 1986.

Remembering you is easy
We do it every day.
Missing you is the heart-ache,
That never goes away.
To some you may be forgotten
To others a part of the past
But to those of us who loved you
Your memory will always last.

Always loved by Auntie Ev and Uncle Jimmie.
